The information provided will be kept on file for a period of one year; however, if the information becomes obsolete or changes throughout the course of business, the customer must inform UPS.

Effective at 12:01 am on April 6, 2026, Per U.S. Customs and Border Protection guidance (CSMS #68253075), additional duties apply to the full customs value of covered metal articles and certain derivative products.

Key Points of Interest

- Section 232 duties apply to the entire entered value of covered products, regardless of how much metal is contained in the article
- Steel, aluminum, and copper are considered into a single tariff framework
- Products containing more than one covered metal are subject to only one Section 232 duty rate
- Products classified outside HTSUS Chapters 72, 73, 74, and 76 are excluded if covered metals account for less than 15% of total product weight.

Current Section 232 Duty Categories

- 50% Additional Duty- Applies to most steel, aluminum, and copper articles and certain derivatives listed in Annex I-A. Duty applies to the full entered value
- 25% Additional Duty- Applies to certain derivative articles listed in Annex I-B that are substantially made of covered metals
- 15% Transitional Duty (through December 31, 2027)- Applies to specific metal-intensive industrial and electrical grid equipment listed in Annex III
- 0% Additional Duty- Applies to products under the 15% metal threshold or otherwise excluded from coverage
- 200% Additional Duty- Applies to Aluminum Products of Russia and products of unknown country of cast or smelt, subject to Section 232

Commodities within this shipment were classified using a tariff number(s) on the metal list which requires Section 232 additional duty. To better serve you, additional information regarding your commodities is required.
